Credits from School for Legal Practice

Candidates at the School register as UCT students for the semester course offered by the School for Legal Practice, and may elect either to follow that course alone, or to apply for admission to LLM studies which will entail the completion of an additional three courses and a 25 000 word dissertation.

CHANGES TO THE PROFESSIONAL MASTERS PROGRAMME EFFECTIVE FROM 2017

COURSES IN THE FACULTY

STRUCTURE OF COURSE CODES

Every course described in this Handbook has a course name and a corresponding course code. The code structure is uniform, and it gives important information about the course. Each code, e.g. DDD1nnnS, has eight characters, where

DDD	first 3 letters of the code denote the name of the Department offering the course
1	is a number representing the year of study in which the course is usually taken
nnn	is a 3 character number that identifies the course uniquely
S	is a single alpha character, specifying the time period during which the course is offered

The following are used:

F	first semester course
H	half course taught over whole year
Q	first semester distance course
R	second semester distance course
S	second semester course
W	full course, year long
Z	non-standard period

The following examples show how this works:

RDL2002H	Law of Property
RDL	designates a Private Law course
2	designates a second year course
002	character number unique to course
H	designates a half course, over the whole year
PBL4604F	Social Justice and the Constitution
PBL	designates a Public Law course
4	designates a fourth year course
604	character number unique to course
F	designates a first semester course

RULES FOR POSTGRADUATE QUALIFICATIONS

Master's degrees

Master of Laws (LLM) in approved courses and research tasks (Professional Master's degree)

For students registering for the first time in 2017

These rules must be read in conjunction with the general rules for degrees and diplomas in Book 3: General Rules and Policies.

FPM1 The Faculty offers a Master of Laws (LLM) degree which is examined by coursework and research tasks, subject to these rules in particular, and the following named Professional Master's degrees are:

Qualification	Code
Master of Laws in Commercial Law	LM020
Master of Laws in Dispute Resolution	LM021
Master of Laws in Environmental Law	LM028
Master of Laws in Intellectual Property Law	LM022
Master of Laws in International Trade Law	LM023
Master of Laws in Labour Law	LM024
Master of Laws in Marine and Environmental Law (not offered in 2017)	LM029
Master of Laws in Private Law and Human Rights	LM027
Master of Laws in Shipping Law	LM025
Master of Laws in Tax Law	LM026

Admission

FPM2

A person may be considered for admission as a candidate for one of the named Professional Master of Laws degrees if -

- 2.1 he or she has a law degree of the University or an equivalent degree of another University or institution recognised by the Senate for the purpose; or
- 2.2 he or she has in any other manner attained a level of competence, which, in the opinion of Senate, on the recommendation of the Faculty of Law, is adequate for the purposes of admission as a candidate for the degree.
- 2.3 in the case of an applicant whose primary language is not English, he or she has submitted evidence of proficiency in English of a sufficiently high standard to undertake postgraduate studies in Law. Evidence of proficiency may include one of the following:
 - a recent score (obtained within 3 - 5 years before application for admission) of at least 570 (paper-based test) or 230 (computer-based test) or 88 (Internet-based test) on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL)
 - a recent overall band score of 7.0 (with no individual element of the test scoring below 6.0) on the International English Language Testing System (IELTS)
 - a score of at least 75% on the Academic Literacy component of the National Benchmark Test (NBT).

An applicant may be required to pass a law-specific English proficiency test before being permitted to register in the Faculty.

Obtaining the degree

- FPM3.1 A candidate must undertake advanced study in four approved courses (or the equivalent) and complete four independent research tasks demonstrating innovation or professional expertise, each linked to one of the four approved courses undertaken. The research tasks comprise a third of the total credits for the degree. The mark for the courses is the average of the marks obtained for the individual courses. To be awarded the degree a candidate must obtain a mark of at least 50% for each course and a mark of at least 50% for each research task.
- FPM3.2 A candidate may be required to submit prepared assignments, participate in debates or moots, and undergo a written and/or oral examination in all or any of his/her approved courses.
- FPM3.3 A candidate who has failed any approved course with 47% or more has the right to an oral examination in that course.
- FPM3.4 Any such oral examination shall be convened upon a minimum of three days' notice given by the Faculty to the candidate, and shall be held at the Faculty in the presence of two examiners, one of whom shall be external to the course concerned, but who may be a member of the Faculty staff.
- FPM3.5 Supplementary examinations are not set for any of the approved courses.
- FPM3.6 Should a candidate fail a course he or she may only continue by taking another course, unless Senate gives permission to repeat the course failed.
- FPM3.7 Each research task must be submitted for assessment by no later than the day on which examinations begin in the semester in which the course from which the research task is drawn runs.
- FPM3.8 A candidate who fails a research task may be permitted by Senate on one occasion only to submit another research task, which must be drawn from a course which the candidate has passed but has failed the research task linked to that course. Unless otherwise permitted, the task must be submitted by no later than the Friday before the first term of the year following the completion of the coursework. Where the candidate has completed the coursework in June, the research task must be submitted for assessment by no later than the day on which examinations end in the second semester.

Credit and exemption

- FPM4.1 For the purpose of granting credit for and exempting a candidate from a maximum of two of the courses prescribed under FPM3, Senate may accept examinations in an appropriate course of equivalent weight passed at this or another university or institution recognised for this purpose; provided that Senate may, in advance, approve a course or courses, which, if completed successfully, will allow credit for and exemption from a course or courses prescribed for the degree. Such approval will be valid for one year but may be renewed on the recommendation of the Faculty of Law.

- FPM4.2 Where a candidate is granted credit for a course, or courses, the candidate will nevertheless have to complete a research task, or tasks, in an approved course, or approved courses, other than the courses for which the candidate is registered.
- FPM4.3 Notwithstanding Rule FPM4.1, a candidate will not be admitted to the degree in terms of Rule FPM3 unless he or she has completed at least the majority of the prescribed courses and the research task at this University.
- FPM4.4 Except with the permission of Senate, a student may not be granted credit towards the LLM degree for courses successfully completed towards the Postgraduate Diploma in Law after the Diploma has been conferred on that student.

Minimum requirements for re-admission

- FPM5 Senate may refuse readmission to a candidate who
1. fails two courses, or the same course twice. For the purpose of this Rule, a 60-credit course shall be regarded as one course, or
 2. does not submit a research task by the submission date, or any extended date granted in writing by the course convener of the course to which the research task is linked.

Duration of programme

- FPM6 Except with the permission of Senate:
1. a full-time candidate must complete the approved coursework and research tasks required for the degree in one academic year (two courses and related tasks per semester); and
 2. a part-time candidate must complete the approved coursework and research tasks required for the degree within two academic years (one course and related task per semester).

Distinction

- FPM7 The degree may be awarded with distinction.
- FPM8 For the degree to be awarded with distinction a candidate must:
- 8.1 complete the coursework in one year if full-time or in two years if part-time;
 - 8.2 submit the research tasks as per rule FPM3.7;
 - 8.3 not count work towards the degree in respect of work that he or she has completed towards another degree or diploma; and
 - 8.4 obtain an average mark of at least 75%.

Exemption from or modification of rules

- FPM9 Any exemption from or modification of these Rules must be approved by Senate.

Note:

- (a) Courses on offer may be added to from time to time or a particular course may not be offered in a particular year.
- (b) Candidates for the degree must at the time of application indicate which courses they intend to pursue. Certain courses have distinct admission criteria so that admission to a named LLM programme does not necessarily signify acceptance for such courses. International students should note that some of the courses assume detailed knowledge of South African law as the basis for further study: it is therefore unlikely that they would be admitted to such a course unless they have been permitted to do so by the course convener.

- (c) The following general policy exists currently with regard to applicants: an applicant with an average of 70% will generally be granted automatic admission, while an applicant with an average of between 60% and 69% will be subject to discretionary admission. Subsequent study and/or related work experience is a recommendation.
