The Department of Communication and Marketing (CMD) exists to promote the University of Cape Town and to build and manage its reputation. It develops, implements and monitors communication, marketing and engagement strategies to advance the profile of UCT with key stakeholders on campus (internally) and further afield (externally). It further serves as a consultation service to the Office of the Vice-Chancellor, the Executive, Senior Leadership Group and internal UCT departments, advising on matters of communication, marketing and stakeholder relations and engagement.

The Department creates and manages a comprehensive and integrated strategic marketing communications programme that includes advertising; production of promotional materials and university-wide publications; media liaison; social media; online communications; functions and events-management; strategic relationship-building initiatives, and internal communication strategies.

The Department has three units: Media Liaison and Social Media; Newsroom; and Marketing and Stakeholder Relations.

Media Liaison and Social Media

The media and social media team communicates to internal and external audiences about university programmes, research, and the activities of faculties and staff. The team works closely with UCT's executive management in planning the release of news and information to both the UCT community and diverse external audiences through traditional and social media.

The unit's proactive media relations campaign profiles UCT in the local, regional, national, international, and specialist media. The unit is responsible for publishing events, successes and innovations; writing, targeting and issuing news releases; updating students and staff on important notices, research developments, and campus events; briefing journalists; responding to media and social media enquiries, and promoting UCT staff as expert commentators on broadcast, online and print media.

Newsroom and Publications

The Newsroom and Publications unit is the contact hub of CMD. The team is responsible for the production of a suite of corporate information and marketing publications for UCT, as well as the online news and other multi-media communications on the corporate website.

Online Communication

The Online Communications section provides support to the UCT community for web development and management in a number of specific areas, including consultation on web development; UCT's web policy and the management of the UCT corporate website. Before embarking on any web development, please consult UCT's web policies and the ICTS website for more information on the options that are available to UCT staff and students.

Marketing and Stakeholder Relations

The marketing and stakeholder relations team is responsible for the university strategic marketing, institutional events and stakeholder engagement initiative. The unit is also responsible for facilitating and coordinating visits to the university. The marketing unit offers UCT-branded clothing, packaging, books, banners, gifts and souvenirs to the university community (staff, students and visitors) via its online catalogue at <http://www.staff.uct.ac.za/staff/services/communication-marketing/online-shop>.

Residences

UCT regards a student's experience in residence as an integral part of educating for life. Students in the residences are assisted in numerous ways:

- Fellow students elect the House Committee, of which the warden is a member, annually. This team is responsible for the academic and social needs and interests of the students, framing the rules, administering the house funds and ensuring the smooth running of the residence.
- The Warden is there to create and nurture a supportive social community in which students can pursue their academic objectives and achieve personal growth. The warden is therefore concerned with all aspects of residence life. The warden is supported by a team of subwardens, who are senior students employed by the University, to whom students can go for assistance. Residence tutors and mentors provide additional support.
- The Residence Life team have the additional responsibility of designing leadership training and other development programmes in consultation with students and stakeholders. The aim of these programmes is to promote an optimal living and learning environment - meaning a healthier, happier and more productive way of living and learning in the residences.
- Residence Facilities Officers (RFO) manage housekeeping matters, such as maintenance, keys, access cards, telephones and other essentials for comfortable living.

The Student Housing and Residence Life Office produces a booklet containing useful general information for the residence community. This booklet is issued to all housing applicants.

The rules for students in residence are set out in handbook 3, General rules and policies. Questions regarding these rules may be directed to a Warden or to the Student Tribunal Co-ordinator. There are 38 student residences, ranging in size from 30-person houses to 800-person halls. Catering residences offer the convenience of three meals per day.

Phone: 021 650-3522

E-mail: Juanita.petersen@uct.ac.za

Hours: 7h30 to 17h30

Started on campus by the Women's Movement in 1978, the Centre provides pre-primary facilities for the children of staff and students, and has an enrolment of over 91 children. It is situated in a pleasant mountainside setting, with ample outdoor play areas.

The Centre caters for six groups: from infants/toddlers (3 months to 2 years) to pre-primary (2 to 5 years). It is open throughout the year and closes only for two weeks between Christmas and New Year.

The Centre employs highly trained staff. Each class teacher has a co-worker. A structured programme (National Curriculum Framework – NCF) is followed and extra-mural activities, which complements the curriculum. Fees are on a sliding scale according to parents' income.

One space per class has been reserved for undergraduates who cannot afford to place their child at the Educare Centre (30 October being the closing date for such applications). Parents will however be required to contribute 30% towards the monthly fee payment. The Financial Aid office will refer such requests to the Educare Centre.

INFORMATION COMMUNICATION & TECHNOLOGY SERVICES (ICTS)

Front Office: ICTS Front Office, Room 2.01, Computer Sciences Building, Cissie Gool Plaza, Upper Campus

Phone: 021 650-4500

E-mail: icts-helpdesk@uct.ac.za

Cybersecurity: <http://www.csirt.uct.ac.za>

Social Media: <http://www.facebook.com/icts.uct>

Twitter: <http://www.twitter.com/UCT ICTS>

ICTS is responsible for the Information and Communication Technology strategy, planning, management and provision of all core ICT services and infrastructure to campus. The department also provides ICT support and training to staff and students.

The campus is fully networked and there is campus-wide WiFi coverage. Computer labs situated around campus and in some residence provide computing access to students. Students have access to a wide range of useful software (such as Office 365, McAfee Endpoint Security, as well as statistical and referencing packages) from the Downloads page on <http://www.icts.uct.ac.za>. They can also access online learning resources such as Lynda.com and the Microsoft Imagine Academy. Students are provided with a myUCT email address for life via Microsoft Office 365. Students have access to both Google Drive and OneDrive, which are cloud platforms they can use to store and back up files as long as they are registered students at UCT. Google Drive offers 10 TB of online storage and OneDrive 1TB or storage. Instructions on using these platforms are available on the ICTS website (<http://www.icts.uct.ac.za>)

In addition to infrastructure and services, ICTS supports students with their IT-related issues. There is a wealth of information on the ICTS website to help students access and use the UCT systems and to troubleshoot any problems they may have. Students can also ask for help from the lab administrators in ICTS-managed computer labs, via social media or at the Front Office on upper campus. ICTS uses email, the website and social media to keep campus informed of new or changed services or any IT-related issues that may affect the UCT community.

The UCT Mobile App helps students to navigate not only the physical campus, but also the digital one. It includes mobile access to Vula, exam timetables, Jammie Shuttle schedules and maps to campus buildings, amongst it's useful features. The app can be downloaded from the Apple iStore and the Android Play Store.

UCT, along with other universities, has negotiated better deals on laptops and tablets through the Student Technology Program. All registered students can buy directly from the STP website (www.stp.ac.za).

POSTGRADUATE CENTRE & FUNDING OFFICE (PGC&FO)

Location: Level 3, Otto Beit Bldg, University Avenue North, Upper Campus

Phone: 021 650-3622

Fax: 021 650-4352

E-mail: pgfunding@uct.ac.za

Website: <http://www.uct.ac.za/apply/funding/postgraduate/applications/>

The PGC&FO, which is part of the Department of Research, administers several different categories of financial assistance for research-related postgraduate degrees and, to a lesser extent, for Honours and course-work postgraduate degrees. In addition to this the PGC&FO manages the registration, funding and administrative processes for the postdoctoral sector. Students who intend to register for postgraduate diplomas and certificates, the BArch, the LLB, or for the Undergraduate 4th year of any Bachelor's degree are not eligible to apply for funding of this with the Undergraduate Student Financial Aid Office. Students who intend to study for a second degree at the same level as one they already hold, (e.g. a second Honours degree) are also not eligible for funding.

The PGC&FO publishes a detailed listing of funding opportunities in Handbook 14: Financial Assistance for Postgraduate Study and Postdoctoral Research, in UCT's series of handbooks.

Students and prospective students who wish to apply for financial assistance are required to complete separate formal application, depending on the category of award. It is important to note that most of the scholarships administered by the PGC&FO have closing dates in the year preceding the year of study. Students are therefore encouraged to source funding information as early as possible in the year before their intended postgraduate studies.

Students who wish to apply for postgraduate support must visit the PGC&FO website <http://www.uct.ac.za/apply/funding/postgraduate/applications/> as early in the year as possible to source information on available funding opportunities and to download the relevant applications. Students are also cautioned that in order to qualify for a UCT Merit award, a concurrent application must be submitted to the NRF. The NRF deadlines for submission of applications changes year to year, but the NRF tends to make early calls (eg – NRF Master's applications for 2017 are normally in July 2016).

Financial assistance offered to UCT students through the PGC&FO is available only to students who are registered for full time study. Students who are employed for more than 20 hours per week are ineligible for UCT-sourced funding. Because it is not possible for the university to provide full-cost bursaries or loans to Honours, Master's and Doctoral students, those who are financially needy are required to seek financial assistance from alternative and external sources. It is important that final-year students proceeding to the Honours degree are aware that NSFAS loans and financial-aid packages are NOT available at postgraduate level. Therefore, such students who successfully apply for postgraduate funding must note that they will not receive funding that covers the full cost of attendance.

A limited number of scholarships are available to international and refugee students each year. Students and prospective students are cautioned, however, that these awards do not cover the full cost of attendance and they are advised to seek external financial support. Applications for UCT International and Refugee Scholarships must be submitted by the closing date of 31 July in the year preceding the intended year of registration.

Prospective international postgraduate students are required to apply to the appropriate academic department at UCT before applying for funding through the PGC&FO. However, students who wish to apply for financial support should do so as soon as possible and not wait until academic places are confirmed.

The Office of Postgraduate Studies supports students, supervisors and administrative staff in enhancing the postgraduate experience. It works with faculties and various UCT-wide committees and sub-committees to provide leadership in policy-making and coordination of processes across the broad field of postgraduate studies at UCT, including student support.

The University strive to offer efficient university-wide platforms for postgraduate students, to continually promote and embed postgraduate students within the research enterprise of the university and increase the number of quality publications emanating from postgraduate student research; to achieve an approximate 40% proportion of postgraduates of the total number of students at UCT; and to monitor and reduce student drop out rates, and time to completion of their degrees.

The Office maintains a consolidated postgraduate hub website, disseminates information about postgraduate studies and coordinates an extensive range of academic and professional development seminars, workshops and retreats for postgraduate students and postdoctoral fellows across all disciplines. An online booking schedule for all the available seminars, workshops, retreats and courses is available on the postgraduate hub.

In order to strengthen the postgraduate community through opportunities for interaction, the Office organizes an orientation of all 1st year PhDs, followed by a PhD breakaway for all 2nd year PhDs and a session for all final year PhDs. In addition, an annual Research Expo is organized that showcases postgraduate researchers at UCT.

In addition, the Office actively pursues global partnerships that involve postgraduate student mobility and international research opportunities.

SHAWCO (STUDENTS' HEALTH & WELFARE CENTRES ORGANISATION)

Location: Steve Biko Building, Level 5, Upper Campus

Phone: 021 650-4522

Fax: 021 650-5739

E-mail: blanche.saptouw@uct.ac.za /
president.shawcoedu@gmail.com

Website: www.shawco.org

SHAWCO provides a unique opportunity for community involvement, personal development and work readiness to ALL students. Get involved in volunteering, research or service-learning, and have a life-changing experience while changing another person's life forever!

Andrew Kinnear, a medical student, started SHAWCO in 1943 as a UCT volunteer organisation with the assistance of Dr Golda Selzer of the University of Cape Town's medical school. Today, the organisation has more than 1,800 dedicated student volunteers per year who continue to serve and learn with community in a variety of meaningful ways. SHAWCO comprises of two main student-run sectors: SHAWCO Education and SHAWCO Health. A third sector – run by staff – coordinates the SHAWCO community centres, maintain community relations, focus on enterprise development and funding, and provide transport, financial and administrative oversight, as well as project support to the student-run sectors.

SHAWCO Education – the Education Sector operates out of five historic communities with a rich history of community engagement. There are two centres in Khayelitsha, and one centre each in Manenberg and Kensington. Projects also run from Nyanga and Mitchell's Plain.

The 13 take place at these centres, or out of schools throughout the wider Cape Town area. Projects cover age groups ranging from grade R to grade 11 (5 to 18 years of age). Projects take a holistic approach on education; in the junior phase, they focus on life orientation, numeracy and literature; in the senior phase they shift towards subject-specific tutoring.

Many sessions have a special-interest focus, such as sport and health or arts and crafts. One project is dedicated to educating youth about legal awareness (only for law students). These projects, SHAWCO Education hopes to provide safe and productive after-school activities, to improve understanding of concepts taught in the school curriculum, and to empower scholars to think critically and creatively.

SHAWCO Health runs several mobile health clinics in several areas of Cape Town in a number of informal settlements across Cape Town. At the moment SHAWCO Mobile Clinics operate in over four informal settlements spread across Cape Town. There are also occasional one-off clinics for flood victims, or other groups in need of medical attention. Given the nature of their activities, SHAWCO Health is geared towards medical students only.

UCT RAG – Remember And Give – is a fundraising arm of SHAWCO and consists of a vibrant group of students that raises money through sponsorships and corporate events. More information is available on page 58.

UCT OMBUD

Location: 3-4 Lovers Walk Extension, opposite the School of Dance, Lower Campus

Phone: 021 650 3665

Email: ombud@uct.ac.za

Website: www.ombud.uct.ac.za

What is an Ombud?

The Ombud provides confidential, neutral and off-the-record assistance to students, post docs and all staff at UCT who have concerns, complaints, conflicts or disputes arising from or affecting their studies or work at UCT.

What do we do?

The principal role of the Office is to be available as an impartial resource for the review of all decisions and actions that fall within the ambit of university life.

The Ombud seeks to provide a neutral, confidential, independent and off-the-record environment within which complaints, inquiries or concerns about alleged acts, omissions, and any problems as they are experienced by university members may be surfaced.

The Office of the Ombud performs a variety of functions. These include listening and providing a respectful and non-judgmental office for people to discuss their problems freely, helping them to clarify concerns and develop options, explaining the university policies and procedures, making referrals to other offices and coaching visitors on how to help themselves, looking into issues by gathering data and perspectives of others and engaging in shuttle diplomacy. In addition, the Office of the Ombud serves as a resource for information and makes available to the University dispute resolution expertise. It also seeks to be a catalyst for institutional change. The Ombud assists parties in reaching resolutions that are consistent with the ideals of the University. The Ombud reports to the Chair of Council.

By talking to the Ombud, visitors and the Ombud agree that the Office of the Ombud will not disclose or keep records of individually identifiable information; the Ombud will not testify or participate in any formal proceeding: communications with the Ombud are privileged, and this privilege is held by the Office of the Ombud and cannot be waived by others. This agreement results in confidentiality and leads to the provision of an impartial place for the discussion of any concern by any member of the UCT community. The only exception to the confidentiality standard would be the very unusual situation where there appears to be no other responsible option except to act without permission. Lastly, the Ombud's services are free to the UCT community.

Website: <https://www.uct.ac.za/students/services/community/RAG/>

UCT RAG is a fundraising organisation that is involved in student life and committed to development. It is run by a group of 80 enthusiastic and dedicated volunteers, who with the help of the Project Co-ordinator and RAG secretary organise a variety of events throughout the year. These RAG committee members are chosen from a pool of over 150 applicants and are among the most dynamic of student leaders at UCT. RAG is generally viewed as the most visible society at UCT. Each RAG member is committed to making his or her project a success and each year new levels of professionalism are brought into each event. All the money that RAG raises is donated at the end of each year to SHAWCO (Students' Health and Welfare Centres Organisation).

Funds raised by RAG are allocated to SHAWCO's student-run projects in education and health. RAG events can be divided into three categories:

- The Student events, which include the orientation week parties, the exciting RAG Olympics and the slightly more upmarket Day at the Races among others.
- Corporate events, which are becoming increasingly more popular, and the most successful of which are the Golf Day on the Rondebosch Golf Course.
- The Community events, which have become symbolic of the public image of RAG. The sale of Sax Appeal is eagerly anticipated each year by the large majority of Cape Town's residents.

UCT RAG has 3 key objectives that the Executive strives to achieve every year, and they are: to raise as much money as possible, to develop the skills of the students who work on the committee, and to provide entertaining events for the target market while ensuring RAG members have fun. It is with these aims in mind that the committee shapes the way that RAG functions and keeps the individuals motivated. Partnerships with RAG's major sponsors like Pick 'n Pay Peninsula Beverages and SAB are vital components in ensuring that everything runs smoothly and RAG is hoping to develop many more relationships like this in the future.

RAG is a dynamic organisation that brings new levels of personal growth to the students who become involved with it. Its functioning is dependant on the dedication of the volunteers who have time after time proven that being a student is all about shared adventures and learning the rewards of teamwork and commitment.

The Writing Centre is a project within the Language Development Group in the Centre for Higher Education Development (CHED). The Writing Centre offers a free consultancy service to undergraduate and postgraduate students as individuals or in small groups at any stage of their writing of assignments, theses, reports, articles. This is not an editing or typing service, but a learning experience directed towards helping students to improve the quality of their writing. Towards this end, the Centre contributes to research into the nature of academic writing in various disciplines and assists academic staff to teach writing within the particular disciplines.

Students are able to book appointments online with their preferred email address and password. Writing Centre consultants are all senior postgraduates that have gone through and continue to go through training sessions whom are not discipline specific. Consultations range from task analysis (30 minutes) to longer writing pieces (1 hour). The Writing Centre believes that all students can improve their writing, whether they are highly experienced writers or complete novices.

The Centre also has a satellite centre at Hiddingh Campus and the Graduate School of Business (GSB), as well as a dedicated Science Faculty Writing Centre in the PD Hahn Building on Upper Campus. There is also a Health Sciences Writing Lab.
